Book Review

Bay St. Louis

Robert Coover's "The Public Burning," published in Bantam paperback, Nov. 1, and "The Origin of the Brunists," Coover's first novel, to be released simultaneously.

Robert Coover's "The Public Burning" is a fictional interpretation of recent U.S. history, an irreverent and compelling satire that recreates the tone and tenor of the Cold War period.

Peopled by a host of stars, including Uncle Sam, Richard Nixon, Betty Crocker, the Marx Brothers, J. Edgar Hoover and the Communist menace, "The Phantom," the novel restages the trial, conviction and execution of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, the "spies" whose case became a focal point for the hysterical 50's.

Published in hardcover by the Viking Press, "THE PUBLIC BURNING" was selected as a Literary Guild alternate, excerpted in American Review and appeared on The New York Times Bestseller List. A Bantam paperback edition was published Nov. 1.

In America of the '50's, it was a time of name-calling, spy rings, A-bomb secrets, paranoia and Armageddon right around the corner.

Coover uses historical data, documents, and real-life figures intertwined with fantasy, comedy and satire.

His central character, Vice-President Richard Milhous Nixon, who narrates every other chapter, detects parallels between the Rosenberg and Nixon family histories, becomes obsessed with comicerotic fantasies of Ethel and starts to realize that "Eth" and "Julie" are "taking the rap for someone else."

The narrative of "The Public Burning" builds toward the execution itself, an astonishing spectacle that takes place on a huge scaffolding in Times Square.

The Entertainment Committee for the event is headed by Cecil B. De Mille. Playing leading roles in the "pre-game fun as Amos n' Andy, Betty Crocker, and Ozzie and Harriet; Uncle Sam spans Justice William O. Douglas in front of the assembled crowd for delaying the execution.

The idea for using the trial and execution of the Rosenbergs as a focal point for a novel came to Coover in 1966.

As he explained in a recent interview, he saw the Rosenberg case as "a watershed event in recent American history and we'd all repressed it. So it occurred to me then to restage it - with special added attractions - in Times Square, where we could all have another look at it."

Coover, whose other works include "The Universal Baseball Association, J. Henry Waugh, Prop.," and "Prick-Songs and Descants," is also the author of "The Origin of the Brunists," a comic novel about a strange grass root American cult.

The work begins with a terrible mining explosion that kills 97. The miraculous escape of Giovanni Bruno captures the imagination of the town, and then the nation, as a small cult - the Brunists - forms around him, predicting the coming of the end of the world.

Generally, unavailable for ten years, Viking reissued "THE ORIGIN OF THE BRUNISTS" in 1977, and Bantam published a paperback edition this November to coincide with the publication of "The Public Burning."

The annual Santa Claus Parade and Doll and Toy Distribution, sponsored by the Pass Christian Rotary Club is scheduled on Saturday, Dec. 16.

Santa Claus will arrive by boat at the Pass Christian Yacht Club at 10 a.m. and will board a big red fire engine for the parade through the streets of the Pass.

Christmas Toy Safety Tips Are Listed

Santa Claus is coming soon. And that means Dad and Mother are out doing the last-minute shopping for the toys that old St. Nick will leave under the tree.

Toys—all the way from a ten-cent rubber ball to a shiny new bicycle—are a part of growing up, and the child without a toy or two—or two dozen—at Christmas is a forlorn tot indeed.

The chances are that your youngsters will open their gifts Christmas morning and have a large time getting acquainted with their new toys. But in all too many households across the nation the toys themselves will dim the happy Christmas season, by causing accidents and injuries.

The American Medical Association offers some simple tips for selecting toys that will help insure a completely happy Christmas.

- * Beware of small toys that can be swallowed, flammable toys, and toys with rough or sharp edges.
- * All electric toys should be safe. Look for the UL (Underwriters Laboratory) label on the cord and on the toy itself.
- * Avoid toys made of lead or colored with lead-based paints. You're unlikely to encounter these today, as the dangers of lead poisoning are now well known. But it's wise to be sure.

To The Editor

Best Wishes from Chamber

Dear Mr. Cuevas:

The Christmas season has arrived and at this beautiful time of the year we want to take time to thank you and your staff for the excellent coverage and support we have received from the Sea Coast Echo during the 1978 year.

The Chamber of Commerce is dedicated to the people of Hancock County. We have been involved in many projects during 1978 and we eagerly look forward to the challenges that will come our way during 1979.

The work that the board of directors and staff perform on a day-to-day basis is always done with this one thought in mind - what is best for Hancock County?

Our involvement in each project would not have been as successful if we had not had the media coverage we needed to let the people know our position on issues and the advance notices of all our activities.

We sincerely wish you and the staff of the Sea Coast Echo a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Sincerely,
Dick Thomas
President

Diamondhead ...

In roadwork.

Hancock County is responsible for maintenance of the main road running through Diamondhead, but residents of the private community pay Diamondhead $14.50 each month for services such as lawn mowing, street clean-up and road work on all other arteries, Vegas said.

Vegas, who has a degree in urban planning, said "it would behoove the residents of Diamondhead to form a city manager-type government."

Vegas said as an incorporated municipality, Diamondhead will be eligible for state and federal benefits.

He suggested a five-man city council and a city manager would be the most practical government for the community.

He said the decision on which form of government to choose will be placed before Diamondhead residents in the form of a vote in 1985.

In Murray's report to the commission, he said all but nine miles of patches on isolated roads were acceptable to the county if the county were to take over maintenance of roads in the community in the near future.

Vegas said flaws in the roads were isolated patches which were completed prior to 1976, when the developers of the community went to a "hot mix" asphalt to pave the roads.

Residents in Diamondhead have complained about the roads, which Vegas said were approved by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, the state, and Hancock County.

"The roads are not as aesthetically nice as asphalt," Vegas said.

Murray said the roads in Diamondhead are made with the same material used on Lower Bay Road and Lakeshore Road in Hancock County.

Commission attorney John Scaffid asked Murray to rate Diamondhead roads in comparison to Lower Bay Road and Lakeshore Road on a scale of one to ten, ten being the highest rating a road could receive.

Murray rated Lakeshore Road at approximately a four or five and said about Diamondhead roads, "some ten, some three and four."

The commission took Murray's report on the roads under advisement.

'Tis the Season

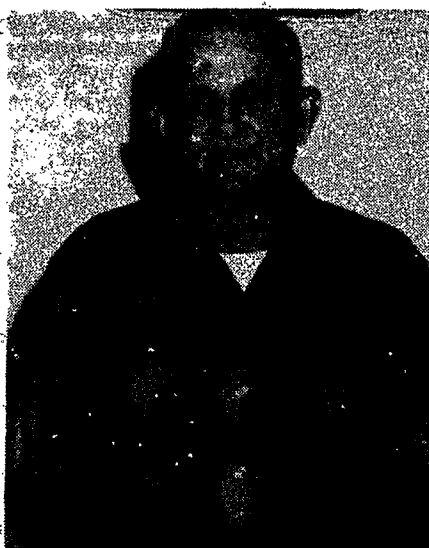

Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Dear Sir:

This is the "white season." No, not the snow and ice of our northern cousins, but the white fogs, white rain and sparkling glints of white frost of the early mornings in the weeds and grasses.

After the dull, dingy grey of the three drought months, the cool rain, the clear air, the sudden rejuvenation of plants, the positive upheavals of bulbs racing to break ground, almost make up for the lack of summer birdsong and high, marshmellow clouds.

So, with the opening of Advent and the coming of Hanukkah and Christmas, let the white blossom of friendliness slip free wherever you walk and the joy of the Christ month lie, like a cuddly lamb, by your fires.

LLOYD (SLIM) LADNER

Requiem mass said for Bay seafood dealer

A Requiem mass at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church was celebrated Tuesday for Lloyd Joseph (Slim) Ladner, 70, of 508 Hancock St., Bay St. Louis.

Burial followed in the Garden of Memories Cemetery.

Mr. Ladner, retired owner and operator of Ladner's Seafood Market, died Sunday, Dec. 3, 1978, in Hancock General Hospital at Bay St. Louis.

He opened the seafood business in 1947 and retired about three years ago. Born April 8, 1908, in Mississippi City, he had resided for most of his life in Bay St. Louis.

He was the son of the late Sylvester Ladner and Nina Gex Ladner.

He was a member of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis and a past member of the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Corinne Younger Ladner, Bay St. Louis; four sons, Lloyd Joseph Ladner Jr. and Terry M. Ladner, Bay St. Louis; Robert W. Ladner, Corpus Christi, Texas; and John E. Ladner, Waveland; one daughter, Mrs. Sylvia D. Ladner Tennant, Miami, Texas; one brother, Ernest Ladner, Seeding Hills, Mass.; three sisters, Mrs. Nina Ladner Garner, Mrs. Lucy Ladner Bradt, and Mrs. Edith Ladner Chevis, Bay St. Louis; 10 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Arrangements were handled by Edmond Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis.

FLOODED PATHWAYS - A pathway between two trailers used as classrooms at North Bay Elementary is flooded by recent rains, causing children to take a different route to classes in another trailer. calling for an additional six classrooms to be constructed at Waveland Elementary to alleviate crowded classroom conditions.

McCullough refused to comment on the most recent reports of a proposal to build a new cafeteria at North Bay, saying the issue will be discussed at a Dec. 11 school board meeting.

"We have discussed improvements of all schools in the system, but nothing is finalized," McCullough said Monday.

"The Board is the boss, not me...the responsibility lies with the Board," he continued.

"We have not applied (to the EFC) for funds, because the board has not approved any improvements," the superintendent added.

When asked if the construction would alleviate the need for a bond issue, McCullough again said the decision whether to ask taxpayers to support a bond issue must be initiated by the Board.

Fred Wagner, architect for Bay St. Louis schools, said problems at the North Bay cafeteria are being discussed by the Board.

He added that problems at other schools in the system are also being discussed by the board.

"The school board, in my opinion, is searching for solutions to building problems, and discussed several possible solutions for North Bay," Wagner said Monday.

"They are also pursuing possibilities at other schools," he added.

"It would not be expedient to attempt to solve problems at one school and not deal with the other schools," Wagner explained.

"We must look at the district as a whole in the process of establishing long-range goals," he said.

"There is no question that the school board knows getting rid of the trailers at North Bay is among top priorities," the architect added.

Wagner said discussions of North Bay improvements have included constructing new classrooms to replace the trailers, but he would not verify reports the Board plans to convert the existing cafeteria into classrooms.

He did say that new classrooms will create a demand for improved food service facilities at the school.

"The more classrooms we add, the more complicated food service problems become," Wagner said.

"We never intended to have as many classrooms at North Bay as we do. We cannot easily enlarge them (food service facilities). We will have to build a new food services building to accommodate the growth of students," Wagner added.

Randolph said the bond issue would cost the average tax payer in the Hancock County School District about $15 a year if the bond issue passes.

Kellar asked the gentleman to cease discussion on the election because the decision to void the election had already been made by the supervisors.

Randolph emphasized that the question is not whether the bond issue is passed or not passed but when Government studies done show that new schools are necessary in the Hancock County School District.

"People who have been anti to this bond issue will deprive children of this county from a place to meet and be educated, because we won't have enough room in our schools," said Randolph.

Randolph said he also received a letter from the state board of education Nov. 29 stating "Existing deficiencies would place both Hancock North Central Elementary and Secondary

Dear Mr. Randolph:

This letter makes record of the visit to Hancock North Central Elementary and Secondary Schools on Tuesday, November 28, 1978, by Dr. Jack Ginn, Assistant Director, Division of Instruction, Mr. Melvin Waters, Supervisor of Secondary Education, and Mr. Wallace Merrill, Coordinator of Accreditation who represented the Commission on School Accreditation. The purpose of this visit was to validate by on-site inspection information in our files pertaining to accreditation deficiencies.

A visit was made to each building and many questions were asked. A list of those deficiencies which were found are attached to this letter.

It is the opinion of the three who visited your school that, based on prior actions of the Commission on School Accreditation, the existing deficiencies would place both Hancock North Central Elementary and Secondary Schools in a not higher than probationary status or possibly be dropped altogether from the accredited list. In the event the Commission were to place your schools in a nonaccredited status, the High School Activities Association would remove your high school from their membership list. The effect of the loss of Activities Association membership would bar your high school from all athletic events and competition with other secondary schools.

It is the hope of the three who visited your schools that the problems can be resolved quickly and without penalty from the Commission. We thank you for every courtesy shown us while in your schools.

Sincerely,

Wallace W. Merrill

Portage, Wolf bridge repair funds likely

Repairs to the Bayou Portage bridge north of Pass Christian and replacement of the Adams and Rouse bridges over Wolf River are dependent on success of the Harrison County Board of Supervisors in securing state and federal funds for the projects.

The board Monday authorized Burk and Associates Inc., New Orleans and Gulfport, to proceed with applications for funds.

Beat Three Supervisor William McDonald introduced the unanimously adopted resolution to seek the bridge funds at a Board meeting this week in Gulfport.

"There is no guarantee we will get the funding, but the money is available," McDonald said.

Charles H. Hill, manager of Burks' Gulfport office, submitted a report to McDonald prior to the board meeting here on findings made by Burks' structural engineering department in inspections of the bridges in McDonald's beat.

Also at Monday's meeting, a letter of commendation was presented to Mrs. M. L. Tootle in recognition of her 24-year service as court reporter for Senior Circuit Judge Leslie B. Rant. She is retiring at year's end.

EQUALITY—Harrison County Beat 4 Supervisor Oscar Peterson tells School Superintendent Terrell Randolph he wants educational opportunities in the northern part of the county to be equal with those offered in the southern part if a new school is to be built there. Randolph and Peterson discussed the matter at a Board of Supervisors meeting Monday. The issue arose when Randolph implied the supervisor is not in favor of the school bond issue because construction of a gymnasium is not listed in the proposal. (Staff photo-Leslie Williams)

BaySide Junior VFD train as firefighters

Where do volunteer firemen come from? BaySide Park Volunteer Fire Department says volunteer firemen come from our children.

If children are taught and trained while they are young, they will know how to protect us when they get older, the department feels.

The BaySide Park Volunteer Fire Department has a Junior Volunteer Fire Department which consists of boys and girls between the ages of 14 to 17-years.

These children are taught to handle fire equipment and how to fight fires.

"Sometimes it is a good thing we have children to help out because it seems we cannot get enough adults interested in joining," the department said.

The volunteer fire unit said it is always in need of members to help put our fires.

Anybody interested in joining the department can contact Volunteer Fire Chief James Crawford at 467-9771.

The Junior department is sponsoring a cake sale on Dec. 18 beginning at 10 a.m. on US-

90 in front of Miller's General Store and Asher's Grocery. The fire department is also accepting contributions. If anyone desires to contribute, he or she can call Chief Crawford and give his or her name and address.

"Like every other volunteer fire department, we do not have the money to operate like a city fire department. It may take a little longer, but we will get there," a spokesman for the department said.

Waveland Board shows unanimity

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

The newly re-elected Waveland mayor, three new and one incumbent aldermen, at their first meeting together Tuesday night, voted unanimously on every issue before the board, including appointment of 30 city officials.

The new terms for Mayor John Longo Jr. and Aldermen Barbara Rappold, Ward One; Jack Toomey, Ward Two; Louis Smolenski, Ward Three and Herman Yarborough of Ward Four will expire in 1982.

Tuesday's meeting marked the beginning of Longo's third term as mayor; Yarborough's second term as 4th Ward Alderman; and the first term as alderman for the others.

The elected officials were sworn into office by Hancock County Chancery Court Clerk John Rutherford, who the mayor described as being a man, "The people of Hancock County can be proud of because he has done a lot for Waveland and can always be counted on when a needy cause is at hand."

Longo's appointments of various city officials, which were sanctioned by the board, include: Donald Dorn, chief of police; Lucien Gex, city attorney and police court judge; Claire Clements, tax assessor-collector; and Collette Schindler, deputy tax assessor-collector.

Other appointments include Thelma Exnicious, chief clerk, Water and Gas Department; Lewis Eaton Partnership of Jackson, city engineers; Barbara Rappold, city secretary, registrar of voters, second mayor pro-tem, and zoning official; Herman Yarborough, mayor pro-tem and Streets Department foreman; Don McIntyre, civil defense director; Eugene Hughes, assistant police chief; Robert Tartavouille, Police Department chief investigator; Kenneth Fayard, fire chief; and Don McIntyre and John Perkins, assistant fire chiefs.

Also named was a three-member Municipal Election Commission composed of Alvin Ladner, Lester Haverty and Ducre Bourgeois; Civil Defense Advisory Commission composed of McIntyre, Dr. M. L. Dodson and Ben Morreale; and a five-member zoning board composed of Charles Dickson, Lester Haverty Jr., Laura Miller, Dr. Earl Breaux and Betty Giboll.

Also at Tuesday's meeting, the board approved second phase development of 40 acres in the Idlewood Subdivision in Ward Four near US-90 and Waveland Avenue.

The board was presented a plaque by Rutherford from the Boy Scouts of America to the city in appreciation of the city's support.

Rutherford said Hancock County has "some of the finest facilities for Boy Scouts in the United States" and he invited others in the county to enjoy the beauty of some of the facilities, such as Camp Salmen.

The board took under advisement a request from the Gulf Regional Planning Commission asking board approval of a coast-wide transportation study.

No city funds will be necessary for the study, according to Longo.

The study will be federally funded, the mayor added.

He said area officials were to attend a meeting at the Biloxi Hilton Wednesday night to discuss creation of a tri-county regional sewer treatment commission with jurisdiction in Hancock; Harrison and Jackson Counties.

State, federal agencies block Main Street funds

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett reported to Council members Tuesday he has received word from state and federal highway officials they are delaying financial assistance on the Main Street project.

Bennett reported the highway officials said assistance will be held up until an engineer is hired by the city to "punch a check list," a preliminary step to final inspections of the work.

The Main Street project, which involved widening and surfacing of Main between Dunbar and US-90, has been at a stand-still since the Bay Council fired the engineer for the project.

Council requested the mayor, Council President James Thriffley and City Attorney Joseph Gex to try and secure an engineering firm for the final phases of the Main Street project.

Thriffley told the Council the only engineering firm which seemed interested is Broadway and Seal. Thriffley said that firm would do the job for the unused portion of engineering fees.

But City Clerk Kelly McQueen reported the city still owes the former engineers, Burke and Associates, some $1600, which when paid leaves only $232 to complete the project.

Councilman Fred Wagner said he thought that Burke and Associates had overcharged engineering fees for the project, especially on the resident inspection. Councilman Pete Benvenuti suggested McQueen check the Council's minutes of Aug. 5, 1977 for specific charges on the resident inspection.

Wagner said to check and see, "If the engineering fees exceeded our original authorization of a fixed amount."

After some discussion, Wagner asked McQueen to find out exactly how much money is left before paying a proposal made on engineering fees.

A motion was made to have the firm of Broadway and Seal prepare a proposal on engineering fees for the completion of the project. The motion carried with four in favor and Wagner abstaining.

In other business, Council:

Accepted the docket as presented without any questioning.

Heard from Ronnie Murray, local official for Gulf Regional Planning Commission, on the Small Cities Program, reporting the importance of having citizen input before funds could be applied for. A public hearing is scheduled on Dec. 19 at 6 p.m.

Also heard a report from Murray that the notice of release of funds by HUD are in the mail but he hasn't received them yet. As soon as he does, the City can sign a contract with the firm of Joe Brown, engineers. Projects for these funds include sewer and water improvements for the 500 block of Washington, Kellar and Sycamore Streets.

Authorized Murray to conduct a study on availability of Federal Aid Urban System Funds for signalization and improvements at Railroad crossings.

Heard a report from McQueen concerning some investments from some City funds in short term notes at local banks and savings and loan associations. McQueen's recommendations were approved by the Council.

Received a report from Council Attorney Joseph Gex that State Representative P. Compretta needs action by the Council in order to prefile a bill in the Legislature on a sales tax increase if needed for the Warner settlement. Bennett and Thriffley both said, "The one-half cent sales tax is the fair way." Benvenuti asked Gex if he could bring a copy of the bill to their next regular meeting on Dec. 19 and Gex said he would forward the request to Compretta.

Received a list of delinquent utility customers showing the total due from over 60 day accounts at $36,437. When the present administration took office there was a total of $50,000 in arrears.

Council took the list under advisement. Thriffley commented in making a quick check of his list, "I am looking for the poor people, I don't see any."

Approved advertising for bids on equipment to be used by the City for the clean-up of drainage ditches.

Accepted a proposal from the Broadway and Seal for the preparation of the plans and specifications and supervision of construction on the paving project at Bay Senior High for a lump sum of $1,500 or 10 per cent of the total amount of the project. Council added an alternate to be included on the advertising at the request of Benvenuti which includes playground and basketball court at North Bay Elementary, as well as the street behind Bay Senior High.

On the drainage problem at deMontuzin and St. George, accepted a proposal from Broadway and Seal to use city crews to do the work and rent one piece of equipment at an estimated cost of $3,000 to complete the project. Council authorized Broadway and Seal to draw plans and specifications and make specifications and make inspections. Thriffley said the proposal would solve the problem.

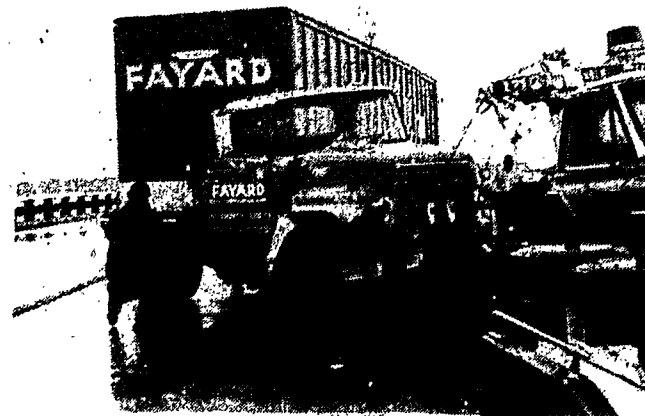

Received a report from Joe Brown Jr. of Joe Brown engineers reported the Seabe Street Sewer extension project as of today (Tuesday) is 30 percent complete.

Brown said the job is on schedule, with completion of an alternator likely since some funds remain unused.

Authorized payment of $1,064 to attorneys George Morris and Walter J. Phillips for legal fees for the Warner case. The bill is paid to December of 1977. Benvenuti asked city Attorney Joseph Gex to have the firm bill the city on a quarterly basis in the future if possible.

Received a report from Bennett that Advanced Developments, Inc. the firm is unable to make a cathodic survey. Council authorized the mayor to contact a firm in Hattiesburg for a proposal.

Council will meet again at 4:30 p.m. Friday.

TRUCK BLOCKS BRIDGE—This semi-trailer apparently jackknifed and crossed the medium of the US-90 Bay automobile bridge, blocking two lanes of traffic Monday. High winds reportedly blew one of the draw bridge barriers in front of the truck as it was being driven westbound, causing the truck to jackknife and cross into the other lane of the highway. Driving rain and cold weather hindered attempts to remove the truck from the traffic lanes. The driver was uninjured. (Staff photo-Rich Adams)

Corrected Coast telephone directories being delivered

The new Mississippi Gulf Coast telephone directory is now being delivered. The new directory replaces the ones delivered in September.

South Central Bell's district manager, Franklin Kyle Jr., said purpose of this new book is to correct errors and omissions in the previous issue.

Delivery of the new directory should be completed in about two weeks Kyle said it should be used upon receipt, and the old directory discarded.

Cover of the new directory salutes the nation's first telephone directory published in New Haven, Connecticut in 1878. The full-color cover photo features a shadow box centered with an old-fashioned wall phone and surrounded by nineteenth-century memorabilia.

"You'd never be able to use the 1878 phone book as a child's chair booster," said the district manager. "It was a one-page card with only 50 listings."

Kyle said the 100th anniversary cover is a general one being used throughout the Bell System, including a number of cities in Mississippi.

"If you haven't received your new directory by Dec. 23, contact the South Central Bell business office," he said

BUCKETS AND MOP - A can catches water leaking into a trailer used as a 'temporary' classroom at North Bay Elementary during heavy rains Monday. Some leaks in the trailers caused disruptions in class while teachers mopped up wet floors. Supervisors ok Port industry waste pipe

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

Borg Warner Chemicals was given approval by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors Monday to construct a waste water discharge pipe into the Port Bienville Industrial Park channel in Hancock County.

The board said its approval is granted to Borg Warner Chemicals if and only if the project to construct the discharge pipe meets Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) requirements.

Joe Gill Jr., marine project manager for the Mississippi Marine Resources Commission, said, "The commission is presently reviewing Borg Warner Chemicals' project proposal to see if it meets EPA standards."

"The commission should know the results of the review on Dec. 19," added Gill.

Also at the board meeting Monday, the supervisors approved a Hancock County Hazardous Material Plan.

County Civil Defense Director Robert Boudin said the plan is designed to provide County officials with information to effectively control emergencies which involve hazardous material.

The plan defines locations where emergencies involving hazardous material are likely to occur, factual information about hazardous materials and how to combat effects of the materials in case of an emergency.

The program is being sponsored by the Gulf Regional Planning Commission and in the future will be combined with the hazardous material programs of Harrison and Jackson Counties.

Mayors Larry Bennett of Bay St. Louis and John Longo Jr. of Waveland also approved the county hazardous material plan Monday.

The supervisors accepted a bid for $10,100 from Gulf Construction Co. in Bay St. Louis to make emergency repairs to the Gum Branch Bridge on Bayou La Croix Road in Beat Four.

The Shaw Supply Co. of Perkinston and Huey Stock Still Contractor also bid on the project.

Shaw Supply bid $11,100 and Huey Stock Still bid $12,300.

A. A. (Dolph) Kellar, supervisor president, reported The supervisor's request to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for an extension on the planning phase of the Port and Harbor's Bayou Cadet Anchorage Basin project has been granted.

The Corps granted an extension to March 31, 1979.

The project has been under study for more than five years.

Bids for county supplies will be advertised beginning Jan. 1, 1979, reported the board.

Bidding will be sought on gasoline, tires, grader blades, metal culverts, gravel, cement, bridge timber, cold mix, bridge slabs, newspaper, advertisements, exterminator service and feeding of the prisoners.

BAY ST. LOUIS
Come One! Come All! To the first event of December, the Christmas Social Hour, with its game session and many surprises.

The event will take place at the Senior Citizens Center on Old Spanish Trail in Bay St. Louis, Monday, Dec. 11 at 1:30 p.m.

Let's make this the finest event of the year. Bring a friend or neighbor - who is 60 years or over, and start the New Year right by signing up for our recreation programs. Refreshments will be served.

HERE & THERE

This time, I wish to pass some safety tips along to everyone, information relating to preventive security.

It is sad but true that even though it is the time of 'Peace on Earth and Good Will to Men,' there are a few people out there who use the holidays as a time to take advantage of others.

Beware of what the police call "confidence" men. Recently a man gained admittance to several seniors' homes by impersonating a policeman.

The culprit gained the seniors' confidence by stating that in the prevention of crime, he needed to enter the home to check windows, door locks, etc.

Do not admit any person, man or woman, who is a stranger to you!

If anyone comes to your home representing any branch of government, civil or federal, ask for their credentials.

Tell them you wish to check them out with your local police before you talk to them.

If they are legitimate, they will not object. If they are not, they will leave.

If this happens to you, call the police immediately and give them a description of the person, car, etc. while it is fresh in your mind.

If you are doubtful as to items received through the mail in regards to donations or investments, consult your Better Business Bureau, Chamber of Commerce, police or sheriff.

The newer Consumer Awareness Bureau is very concerned about things you may buy that are misrepresented to you.

The CAB is concerned with anything you buy which is found to be defective when you get it home or does not live up to the expected quality.

There are federal laws to protect the consumer, especially we senior citizens, but they cannot help us unless we first help ourselves by reporting it.

Do not accept any packages from any delivery service for a neighbor or family member unless they tell you about it first.

Even if they ask you to receive packages, have the deliverer sign stating if it is not correct, the money will be returned.

A rule of thumb is to apply the old adage, "An ounce of prevention, is worth a pound of cure."

Each of us can help to make this a better and safer holiday season.

Also remember, in rushing around with the usual preparations such as shopping, yuletide parties, and enjoying home decorations, we will all find we are driving more than usual. Remember, drive carefully and safely, for the life we save may be our own.

Food stamp allotments to be increased Jan. 1

Low-income families in Hancock County will receive a cost-of-living increase in their food stamp allotments starting Jan. 1, according to David S. Alspach, southeast regional administrator of the Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service.

The increase, prescribed by law, reflects the rise in the cost of food from March through September of this year.

For a family of four, this translates into a 5.2 percent increase in their food stamps.

Between January and July

1979, states will be phasing in new allotments and income eligibility limits required by the Food Stamp Act of 1977.

As a result, some states will be issuing food stamps under both old and new program rules while this transition is taking place.

Under the new program rules being phased out, a family of four with no net income will have their allotment increased on Jan. 1 from the present $182 to $192.

The maximum net monthly income a family of four may have and still be eligible for food stamps will increase from $807 to $840.

Under new program rules, a family of four with no net income will receive a $191 food stamp allotment.

The net monthly income limit for a four person food stamp family will be $542, or about $8,500 per year.

This is nearly $1,200 a year lower than the net income limits under the old program rules that are being phased out.

Regional Civil Defense preparedness drill on Hancock County is participating in an exercise to test the readiness of civil defense units within the eight states of Region 3 of the U.S. Defense Civil Preparedness Agency (DPCA), Bob Boudin, county civil defense coordinator, said.

The exercise officially got underway simultaneously within the eight states when DPCA Region 3 Director Harris M. Pope signals state civil defense directors during the week of Dec. 3-9 to assume an initial readiness condition and to prepare for a higher state of readiness, Boudin said.

However, local civil defense coordinators in Mississippi began testing emergency communications equipment last Friday.

The purpose of the exercise, similar to the one held last December, is to test the

Rep. Dollar calls for A&I revamp

State Representative Dennis Dollar of Gulfport has called for a legislative reorganization of the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial (A&I) Board for the purpose of "letting some of the air out of what has developed into a political football."

In a letter to various Mississippi manufacturing, business, and tourism leaders, Dollar said that the A&I board is "undoubtedly one of the most important agencies in state government but, unfortunately, it has also over the years become one of the most political."

However, he said that the agency, which is responsible for industrial development, tourism promotion and the marketing of agricultural products through state ports and harbors, has the potential of becoming a "tremendous force for greater economic progress in Mississippi."

"But first," Dollar said, "we are going to have to set aside certain standards of professionalism for the agency and also provide for some continuity of policy from one governor's administration to the next."

To accomplish this, Dollar has introduced a bill for the consideration of the 1979 session of the Mississippi Legislature which would provide for the appointment members to the 25-member board for eight-year staggered terms representing the state's five congressional districts, rather than the present method whereby members are appointed to serve the "will and pleasure of the governor" and represent the state's three Supreme Court districts.

"This will prevent the wholesale turnover of board members upon election of a new governor every four years," Dollar explained, "and the appointment of members from congressional districts instead of Supreme Court districts should insure more representation for the urban, industrialized areas, such as those along the Gulf Coast, which are in the most need of professional assistance from the state level in the fields of industrial development, tourism promotion and marketing."

Dollar's bill also requires that the director of the A&I Board be a professionally-qualified industrial developer with a minimum of five years actual experience in the field. He feels that this requirement is important to the success of his reform package in industrial development, one who is not bound by political cronyism, is the first step towards a more professional agency.

Another aspect of his proposal would establish a Division of Tourism, separate from other A&I Board responsibilities, which would have both an independent director with a professional background in tourism and also a separate budgetary procedure.

Cuevas promoted to senior veep

Milton J. Cuevas, Bay St. Louis native and 1952 graduate of St. Stanislaus, has been named senior vice president for client relations at Curtis Circulation Company in New York.

Cuevas is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Cuevas. "Since the company's associations with its publishers encompass so many significant areas, an individual who has served in the field as an account executive and as vice president of sales would be uniquely suited to direct the client relations area - Milton Cuevas possesses this kind of background," said Robert B. Ameger, Curtis president.

Betty and Bill Sanders

"The gun crew succeeded in shooting down a Japanese bomber which crashed into the Curtis at a ship's bow, large fires and adding to the confusion. On its crash course, the bomber passed only five feet over my head striking the ship about 25 feet from my position.

"We continued firing at the planes and some tried to put out the fires. About 30 minutes after the attack, a bomb from a high flight over us struck the ship. The concussion knocked me down. The contact point was only 15 feet from me but thank goodness, it was one deck below.

"When the bomb hit the Curtis I received shrapnel in my left arm, face and both hands. I immediately joined a fire fighting party and we succeeded in controlling the fires.

"At this point in time it seemed the major part of the attack was over because we weren't receiving more attacks from planes."

"A U.S. Destroyer passed along side us and dropped some depth charges. In a few minutes, a two man Jap sub came to the surface and was immediately blown to bits by the destroyer's guns.

"I received emergency medical aid and we were all placed on complete alert. During the battle we were only about one and a half miles from the Arizona, Nevada, West Virginia, Tennessee and California. (U.S. Navy battleships).

"The old Utah, a decommissioned battleship, was anchored only 100 feet from us. It had been used for machine gun fire practice and was destroyed by the Japanese," the veteran Navy man stated.

"The U.S.S. Curtis went to the Navy yard after the attack and received temporary repairs, then later went to the states in mid-January to pick up a load of planes and return to Pearl Harbor.

"I was given the job of escort duty because of my injuries. I drove the different commanding officers from one ship to another. My injuries kept me from flying immediately, but if I had not been wounded it would not have made any difference because all of our planes were destroyed.

"The landing strip on Ford Island was lined up with trucks across the runway because the Americans didn't want the Japanese to land on the strip."

"The first American planes to come in from the Enterprise were fired upon by our own guns. Some were destroyed. Pilots were killed by our own gun fire. We were lucky that the Enterprise and Hornet were at sea on maneuvers when the attack came.

Mrs. Sanders also remembered there was an article in the newspapers stating there was going to be some practice shooting by the big guns at Fort Shafter the day before the attack. She said they would run these notices so everyone could put loose items on shelves in safe places.

Betty was really worried about Bill and he about her. It wasn't until Tuesday that Bill was able to get home and tell her everything was o.k.

Bill was also able to get messages to other dependents about their spouses, the ones he knew were alive.

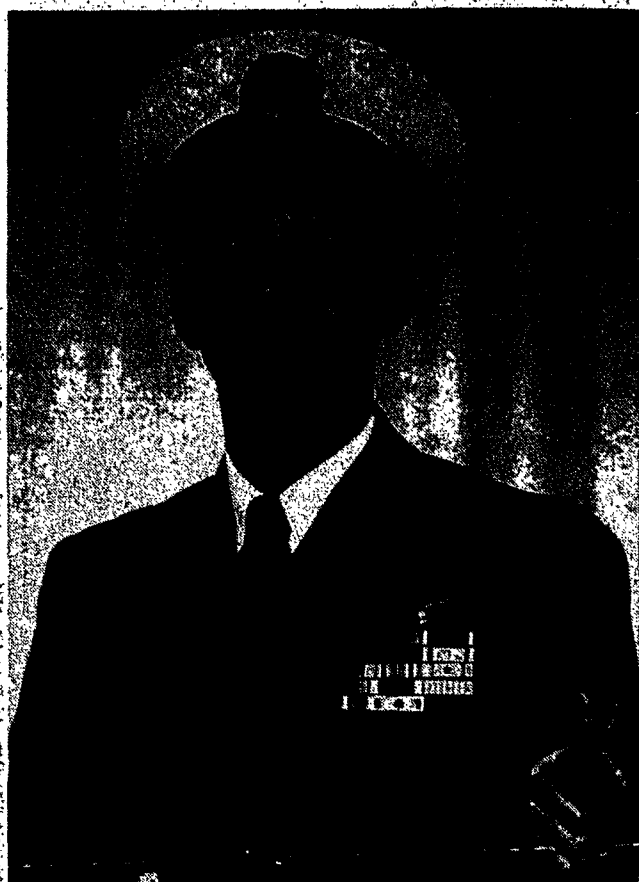

Bill was able to visit Betty only for a few hours at a time. He, as well as all other military personnel were all on duty 24 hours a day.

Bill said his being a chauffeur helped him get a little time to visit home.

The house the Sanders rented only the month before cost them $90 per month, and they still have the first receipt. The lady who owned the house had a garage converted into living quarters for herself. All of the natives were instructed to build bomb shelters in their yards which she did.

At Waikiki Beach, Betty said everyone had to have blackouts as they were afraid the Japanese would attack again, the American Government sent all dependents home.

Betty said she stayed as long as she could and tried to dodge the authorities, not leaving until Bill's commanding officer ordered him to get her off the Islands. She

Back on the mainland, Betty's father received a telegram addressed to her stating that her husband was wounded in action. She said her father thought their home was hit. The telegram was dated December 11, 1941.

Betty's father was a Bureau of Narcotics supervisor in San Francisco and he called an agent in Honolulu to see how Betty and Bill were. The agent called Betty's father back to say they both were alright.

"After the attack the first word Betty received about the U.S.S. Curtis was that the ship had been hit. Civilian friends who worked for the military brought her the news, but they didn't know what Bill's condition was, whether he was alive or dead."

Bill said he witnessed many Americans being burned alive in the Harbor, because the water was covered with fuel oil and it wall all aflame.

The fuel oil burned day and night around Ford Island, and he saw many a man jump into the burning oil.

Bill said he watched many a sailor being rescued from overturned boats which were bottoming up. Rescue workers would use hammers to tap on the hulls to find survivors trapped in air pockets. Then they would cut a hole and pull them out, sometimes there would be a dozen people come out of one hole. That type of rescue went on for days, according to Bill.

"I saw them pulling the dead bodies out of the Arizona and the other ships sunk, there were dead Americans all around the Islands. The Japanese could have walked all over us if they would have launched an invasion after Pearl Harbor," Sanders commented.

Bill was among the second group of enlisted men to finish flight school at Pensacola, Fla., in 1929. He stayed in the Navy until 1933 and was discharged. He and Betty were married in 1936.

In 1940, he decided to go back into the Navy because he thought it was the best thing to do.

Bill said, "I would do the same thing all over if I had to face the same situation."

He remained on the U.S.S. Curtis for five months, then went to Guadalcanal to fly B-24's as crew chief on bombing and observation flights.

"I flew over so many Japanese ships I couldn't count them," he said. After Guadalcanal, Bill saw action at Munda, the Treasury Island group to the Admiralty Islands and was flying from Leyte in the Philippines just prior to returning stateside after three years in the South Pacific.

When the war was over Bill was at Corpus Christi, Texas, training flight crews. During the Korean conflict Chief Sanders flew out of Okinawa to Korea on bombing runs.

In 1957, Sanders retired with 29.5 years of service as an aviation chief machinist mate, permanent appointment. He logged a total of 11,000 official hours of flying time during his military career.

A highlight during the War was the initiation of those who cross the Equator for the first time, Bill said. He officially crossed the Equator four times by ship and six times by air, mentioning the fact that he crossed it seven times in one day searching for the Japanese fleet.

"The reason so many of the American ships were sunk by the Japanese attack was because there was an admiral's inspection of all ships in port on Saturday, Dec. 6. All hatches were open so the ships were not water tight as they normally are during an attack. The Japanese gave us a beating at Pearl Harbor, but we returned the favor to them."

The Americans dropped two atomic bombs on Japan and I still agree with the decision of President Harry Truman to drop the bombs. Many more Americans would have lost their lives if we would have had to invade Japan," Sanders commented.

Sanders has an assortment of war mementos. Many more he said he gave away. He has a Short Snorter Bill (it contains currency bills from many countries) which has been signed by such people as Frank Sinatra, Bob Hope, H. B. Kaltenborn, dean of reporters; Pete Stackpole, Life magazines; Buster Crabbe, Pat O'Brian, Admiral Halsey, Francis Langford, Jerry Colona, Robert Montgomery, Skinny Ennis among others. One Japanese yen has the notation that it was taken from the body of a Jap General on Guadalcanal.

Bill brought an ash tray home made from the skull of a Japanese, but Betty, after while threw it out. Swords, flags, photos are among the memorabilia he still has. Bill arrived in Hawaii in May, 1941 on the U.S.S. Curtis. The seaplane tender which carried four seaplanes and was capable of tending 24 PBV's in the 10,000-ton class. They were doing routine maneuvers out of Pearl Harbor to Wake, Midway, etc., according to Bill.

Betty joined Bill at Waikiki in August, 1941, paying her own way over on the U.S. Monterey out of San Francisco.

Betty still has a copy of one of the menus which was served on the way over. The meal included: Heart of Celery on Ice, Queen Olives and Salted Nuts.

Fresh Hawaiian Pineapple Cocktail, Marachino Cosomme Royal, Brook Trout Saute with Almond Butter, Straw Potatoes, Roast Squab Chicken Madra, Roast Prime Ribs of Beef with Natural Gravy, New Peas Farmers Style, Fresh String Beans in Butter, Roast New Potatoes, Heart of Romaine With Tomato, Alligator Pear, Waikiki Dressing, Frozen Delight Monterey Assorted Dainties, Chocolate Mint Wafers, Coffee.

HOME ON LEAVE-Bill Sanders had just finished basic training when this picture was taken in 1929 while home on leave in Denver, Colorado. Bill, born in Greenwood, Miss., was raised in Denver.

Bill was born in Greenwood, Miss., and raised in Denver, Colorado. His parents were informed about his well being by Betty's father when he found out they were alright via telephone through Honolulu.

Betty returned to the U.S. on the sister ship of the U.S.S. Monterey, S.S. Lurline and it was no longer a cruise ship. Bill said the Lurline returned to the states at 33 knots without escorts, they weren't necessary as the Japanese subs couldn't go that fast at that time.

Bill has a leaflet which was like the ones dropped over Munda in the Solomon Islands. It originated on Guadalcanal and is in Japanese on an 8.5 by 11 inch sheet. The notation on the back reads -

A translation of the leaflet dropped on Munda by the Black Cat Squadron on the night of August 31, 1942 follows:

Today the heavy artillery of the Americans began the shelling of Kolombangara Island; however, this is only, the beginning.

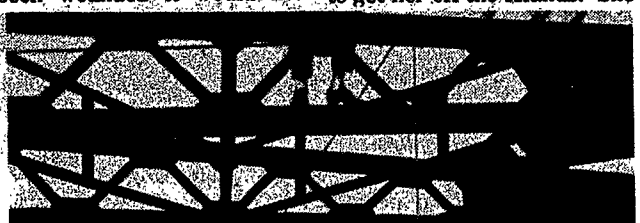

You will not be able to stay outside of your dugouts and as a result you will suffer from many cases of malaria and dysentery.

While you are engaged in a painful struggle, the Japanese Navy, which is living in the comfort of plenty outside of the battle zone, is absolutely helpless to aid you. By our unceasing attack on your food and shelter, even your fox holes will be destroyed.

And some of you will be buried alive. Ask the survivors of the 229th Regiment about their experiences on Villa LaVella Island.

After retirement, the Sanders' moved to Slidell for awhile, and then to Bay St. Louis in November, 1972. Their son, daughter-in-law and one grandson also live in Bay St. Louis.

Bill received many decorations during his Navy career, including the Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal with three stars, Purple Heart, China Campaign Medal, Distinguished Service Medal from Australia, the South Pacific Theatre, American Theater, Good Conduct Medal with five stars and others.

IF FISH WERE TO BE CAUGHT BILL WAS THERE-Bill Sanders, left of shark, helped a mate pull this one onto the deck of the U.S. Curtis November 11, 1941 off Wake Island. The only thing Sanders enjoys more than fishing in retirement is playing golf, according to his wife.

JAPANESE SHIP GROUND ON GUADALCANAL-This Japanese attack ship was one of the many which were beached by the Japs during the Pacific Theatre. Chief Sanders said after the attack too much fire power from the Americans and were about to sink, they were beached on the beach at Guadalcanal.

FAMILIAR SIGN ON ALL ISLANDS-This sign on Waikiki Beach was familiar to all Military as the same type of a sign was on just about all islands telling one how far he was from other places around the world.

FIREFOX

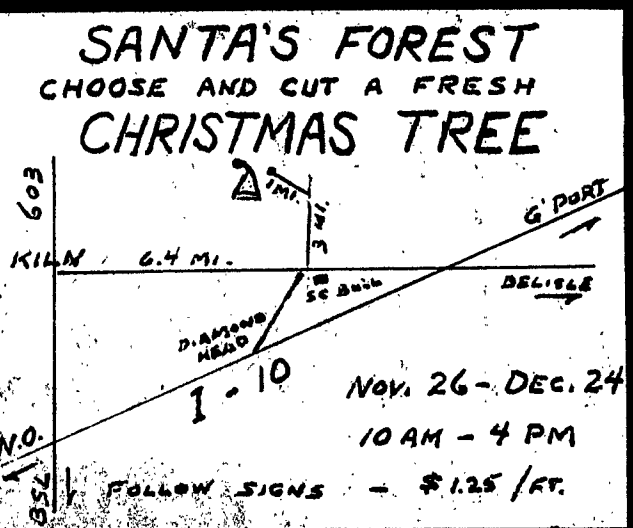

Craig Thomas' thriller, Firefox, has been released by Bantam.

"Firefox" is the codename for the new Russian-built MIG jet that is so advanced in design that it poses the greatest threat to the world since the atom bomb.

"Firefox" can travel over 4,000 mph, is undetectable by radar and is equipped with a thought-controlled weapons system. The U.S. and England won't be able to produce a comparable aircraft for years.

With the help of Soviet dissidents, American and British intelligence elaborately plot to smuggle an American pilot into Russia and steal "Firefox."

The work is Craig Thomas second book. His first novel, Rat Trap, will be published by Bantam in March of 1979, and his latest, Wolfbane, has recently been published by Holt, Rinehart & Winston.

"The gun crew succeeded in shooting down a Japanese bomber which crashed into the Curtis at a ship's bow, large fires and adding to the confusion. On its crash course, the bomber passed only five feet over my head striking the ship about 25 feet from my position.

"We continued firing at the planes and some tried to put out the fires. About 30 minutes after the attack, a bomb from a high flight over us struck the ship. The concussion knocked me down. The contact point was only 15 feet from me but thank goodness, it was one deck below.

"When the bomb hit the Curtis I received shrapnel in my left arm, face and both hands. I immediately joined a fire fighting party and we succeeded in controlling the fires.

"At this point in time it seemed the major part of the attack was over because we weren't receiving more attacks from planes."

"A U.S. Destroyer passed along side us and dropped some depth charges. In a few minutes, a two man Jap sub came to the surface and it was immediately blown to bits by the destroyer's guns.

"I received emergency medical aide and we were all placed on complete alert. During the battle we were only about one and a half miles from the Arizona, Nevada, West Virginia, Tennessee and California. (U.S. Navy battleships).

"The old Utah, a decommissioned battleship, was anchored only 100 feet from us. It had been used for machine gun fire practice and was destroyed by the Japanese," the veteran Navy man stated.

"The U.S.S. Curtis went to the Navy yard after the attack and received temporary repairs, then later went to the states in mid-January to pick up a load of planes and return to Pearl Harbor.

"I was given the job of escort duty because of my injuries. I drove the different commanding officers from one ship to another. My injuries kept me from flying immediately, but if I had not been wounded it would not have made any difference because all of our planes were destroyed.

"The landing strip on Ford Island was lined up with trucks across the runway because the Americans didn't want the Japanese to land on the strip.

"The first American planes to come in from the Enterprise were fired upon by our own guns. Some were destroyed. Pilots were killed by our own gun fire. We were lucky that the Enterprise and Hornet were at sea on maneuvers when the attack came.

Mrs. Sanders also remembered there was an article in the newspapers stating there was going to be some practice shooting by the big guns at Fort Shafter the day before the attack. She said they would run these notices so everyone could put loose items on shelves in safe places.

Betty was really worried about Bill and he about her. It wasn't until Tuesday that Bill was able to get home and tell her everything was o.k.

Bill was also able to get messages to other dependents about their spouses, the ones he knew were alive.

Bill was able to visit Betty only for a few hours at a time. He, as well as all other military personnel were all on duty 24 hours a day.

Bill said his being a chauffeur helped him get a little time to visit home.

The house the Sanders rented only the month before cost them $90 per month, and they still have the first receipt. The lady who owned the house had a garage converted into living quarters for herself. All of the natives were instructed to build bomb shelters in their yards which she did.

At Waikiki Beach, Betty said everyone had to have blackouts as they were afraid the Japanese would attack again, the the American Government sent all dependents home.

Betty said she stayed as long as she could and tried to dodge the authorities, not leaving until Bill's commanding officer ordered him to get her off the Islands. She

Tigers drop fifth game of season

The Tigers play Sr. Martin Friday in Tiger Stadium.

The Bay High Tigerettes also lost against the lady Bulldogs, 43-35 to move thier season tally to 2-6.

Deedee Holden scored 11 points for Vancleane and Andrea Reed netted 10.

Bay High's Tammy Raboteau poured in 16 points for the Tigers.

Tiger head coach Jerry Spell said before Tuesday's game that his team was inexperienced and lacked height.

"We had a terrible night...they jumped on us at the start to a 9-2 lead and advanced that to a 13-2 lead," coach Spell said.

"We handed them everything we had, we just don't have the shooters," he added.

He said his tallest starter was six-foot, and Vancleave has two measuring at six-foot-five.

"Most of our competitors are taller than us," he said.

SURVEY CRUISE
Three biology graduate students and a faculty member from The University of Mississippi recently went trawling for a week in the northern Gulf of Mexico to assist the National Marine Fisheries Service in a Groundfish Survey Cruise. Purpose of the cruise was to study the abundance and distribution of the commercial shrimp population and of fish commonly found off the coast. Students on the survey cruise included Warren Dorsa and Barbara Mancuso, both of Metairie, La., and Fred Schultz of Des Plaines, Ill. Dr. Ronald Fritzsche, assistant professor of biology, also took part in the cruise.

Rocks roll over Pearl River, 75-57

By RICH ADAMS

Rock-A-Chow eager Kerry Corr tallied 29 points for his best night this season and Jeff Wallace added 14 as St Stanislaus defeated the Pearl River Blue Devils 75-57 in court action Monday.

Keith Hall netted 25 points for the Blue Devils and teammate Roger Mitchell tallied 14 points for the game.

Corr, high scorer for the Rockers, has scored 83 points in five games, an average of 16.6 points per game.

Corr also accumulated 19 rebounds in Monday's game to remain leading rebounder on the team with 59 for the season.

"The game was close throughout," said Rock head coach Bob Cucuro.

At the end of the third period we were four points on top. The defense did a good job in the fourth," he added.

Chuckie Vincent, another Stanislaus high scorer for the season, sat out most of Monday's game due to illness.

Coach Cucuro said his team suffered a "lack of desire and ability to work together as a unit" in earlier games, but said the team is beginning to come around.

"We played fine defense in the second half...we also hit 17 of 20 free throws," the head coach said.

The Rocks have accumulated 3 wins against 2 losses at this early stage of the season.

The Rocks are a high scoring team this year, averaging 75 points per game with 378 total points in five games.

Following Corr in the scoring statistics is Charlie Vincent with 57 points this season. He is followed by Jeff Wallace and Cary Lang, with 43 and 41 total points respectively.

The Rocks lost a battle Tuesday as four East Central Hornets scored in double figures to defeat Stanislaus 63-50.

East Central's Curtis Nelson scored 18 points for a personal game high, followed by Albert Wells with 14 points and David Riley and Charles McCreary with 12 points each.

Kerry Corr added 17 points to his team high of 33, and Charlie Vincent was back in action netting 10 points.

The Rocks participate in the Pearl River, La. Tournament, going against Mandeville at 5 p.m. tonight. The tournament continues through Saturday.

Hawks rout Pirates in 'physical' match

By RICH ADAMS

The Hancock North Central Hawks defeated the Pass Christian Pirate cagers 81-65 as Hawk forward Alan Dedeaux and center Steve Nunn combined for 46 points and 20 rebounds.

Alan Dedeaux put in 24 points with nine field goals and six free throws. Nunn netted 22 points on 10 baskets and two free shots.

Dean Shaw also scored in the double figure category for the Hawks with 11 points.

Carl Bowser was high scorer for the Pirates in the rivalry with 21 points; and Volme Swanner followed with 10.

Charlie Jacobs, a member of the Hawk coaching staff, said the game was very physical.

"The game was rough and there were quite a few fouls," said Jacobs.

"HNC put a press on the Pirates and took control. Coach Roland Ladner substituted freely and the game went smooth," he added.

The Hawkettes defeated the Lady Pirates in another physical game, 44-30.

Shaynon Ladner netted 18 points for the Hawks, while Lady Pirate Robin Roberts copped 16 for Pass Christian.

Jacobs said the game was also "rough, with many foul problems."

"Pass Christian is pretty tough. The game was not real well played by either team. We dominated the game, but it was just a case of who made the most mistakes," Jacobs

Buccaneer Crew Notes Sherry Price

The rainy weather this area has experienced for the past week has slowed down the camping much around Buccaneer State Park.

Travelers from the Northern states however are appreciating our warm weather and seem to enjoy the Park, with many making at least a weeks stay in the Bay St. Louis-Waveland area.

RECREATION FACILITIES

Just because it is now the cooler months here in the South, there is no need to sit at home in front of the television hour after hour. Did you know that Buccaneer State Park has tennis and basketball courts which are available free of charge? Another convenience is that the courts are lighted and can be in use until 10 p.m. weekly.

Bicycles and picnic pavilions are for rent on a first-come, first-serve basis. The bicycles are located at the Ranger Station, user fee is $1.00 per hour per person. The pavilions are available for rent at $15.00 per day. The cool weather should make nice days for picnics and gatherings of friends. If you are interested in renting a pavillion, phone the Buccaneer State Park office, 467-3822.

LADIES EXERCISE
Ladies exercise class is still going strong. The class meets in the Park Recreation Hall each Monday and Thursday evenings at 7 p.m.

If you are interested in participating, drop by and view one of the sessions. There is no age limit. Many of the original members of the class still participate, and they have been with the program since last April.

If you want to get away from the Monday night football schedule, come to the ladies exercise class - its free.

MEC's lobby group outlines program

The Mississippi Economic Council's newly formed Legislative Action Committee said Thursday the Council will continue its opposition in 1979 to any legislative effort to provide for classification of property for tax purposes.

The committee's decision came in a meeting in Jackson. MEC President G.B. Beard of Jackson chairs the legislative group.

Beard said the Committee examined several issues which are expected to receive priority attention of the state Legislature in the coming session.

In addition, he said, the group attempted to identify areas of particular interest to MEC members and to identify issues relevant to the state's economic development.

"While the Council has a variety of policies and recommendations covering different areas of the state's economy and government," Beard said, "the committee agreed to direct legislative efforts toward items which are of timely interest to MEC members and to Mississippi plans."

Included in the items marked for special emphasis by the Council in the 1979 session, in addition to the opposition to classification of property, were support of legislation which would maintain the state's tax structure as competitive with other states, support for the reorganization of health care delivery agencies, improvements in the state's public employment system, support of fiscal independence for local school districts, support for increased load limits for highways with adequate user charges included in load limit legislation, and support for reorganization of the A & I Board as a step toward a more professional industrial development agency.

Mississippi health officer alarmed at Ala. rabies rise

An "alarming" increase has been reported in the number of laboratory confirmed cases of rabies in the southeast corner of Alabama from January through October this year, according to Dr. Ira L. Myers, Mississippi State Health Officer.

A large number of the residents in that area have been exposed to the rabies virus through the bite or contact with rabid animals, and many have been obliged to undergo the series of anti-rabies treatment.

The threat to the human, as well as domestic animal population in that area of Alabama is genuine and the consequences of a more widespread epizootic could be devastating in terms of human suffering and financial losses to livestock owners.

In Alabama as of November 10, 1978, there had been 38 cases of laboratory confirmed rabid animals, which included 4 dogs and 2 cats. There appears to be a spreading from wild animals, mostly raccoons, to the domestic animals.

"In Mississippi, we have not had any laboratory confirmed rabies in domestic animals for about 16 years, but there have been a number of cases in bats over this period of time," Dr. Myers reported.

Rabies, a virus disease of warm-blooded animals, is usually transmitted by the bite of the rabid animal and contamination of the bite wound with the virus bearing saliva. It is considered fatal after development of symptoms, but there has been one reported case of recovery in a human.

Although the rabies epizootic is primarily in raccoons in Southeast Alabama, the following steps are recommended, especially in the areas of Mississippi adjoining Alabama:

1. Immediate immunization of all dogs and cats by your local veterinarian that have not been vaccinated within the past year.
2. Strict control of all stray and unwanted dogs and cats.
3. Avoid all contacts with wild animals, especially raccoons and skunks, and stray dogs and cats. There is no approved vaccine for wild animal pets.
4. Report unusual behavior of your pets or livestock to your local veterinarian, or the local Health Department.

Brown & Root, one of the world's largest engineering and construction companies, owes much of its success over the past 50 years to the skills and loyalty of its Brownbuilders.

Along the Gulf Coast, Brownbuilders are designing and constructing offshore oil and gas platforms and pipelines, chemical and petrochemical plants, power plants, bridges, highways, and oilfield sites.

As language evolves, old expressions die out

"Tough as a pine knot" is the expression old timers know the meaning of. There are very few pine knots left now but the woods were full of them back in the old days.

A pine knot was about the toughest thing a person could get hold of. It was so tough it could not be split and to try to cut into one would dull the sharpest ax, or saw.

An edition of Mississippi Folklore Register contains 124 old sayings, many of them in general use throughout Mississippi and surrounding areas. For instance this one, "Slow as molasses on a cold morning."

In mild or warm weather the home-made molasses found on almost every table would flow freely but in cold weather it would thicken and pour very slowly. I've poured molasses on my biscuits when it would pile up almost 1/2 inch thick in real cold weather.

"Slow as Christmas" is another old saying in this edition of the Mississippi Folklore Register. Every child when I grew up looked forward with keen anticipation to Christmas. That was the big day of the year for children, and about the only time, especially out in the country, when they got gifts of any kind. Because we did wait so expectantly the coming of this great day, it would seem to us to be awfully slow in coming.

"Foolish as a goose," or "Silly as a goose" was an old saying well understood, especially by farm folks as most people had geese or were familiar with them and their often comical antics. Today geese are not so well known, hence these old sayings do not mean so much.

"Like a chicken with its head cut off" is another old saying many in these modern days will most likely not understand. Chickens back a few years ago were sold live altogether, where now they are sold in markets already dressed and ready to cook. When I grew up people killed their chickens at home. I've often seen my mother kill chickens by cutting their heads off or by wringing their necks. When the body of a chicken hit the ground it would bound about in all directions for a short time. To say a person is like a "chicken with its head cut off" means that he goes around in an aimless and unpredictable way.

Just about everyone, even the white house in Washington, kept live chickens in the long ago. Because they were familiar with chickens every one knew that hens did not like to get wet, and would strongly protest when they did. With most people now buying their chickens in the markets already dressed and ready to cook, they do not have occasion to see a wet hen, hence will not understand this old saying, "mad as a wet hen."

To express the opinion that a person was very ignorant, was the old saying, "He does not know B from a bull's foot."

To say "poor as Job's turkey," or "poor as a church mouse" is to imply that there was very little food in the pantry of someone.

"Blind in one eye and can't see out of the other" refers to a person who is so dumb he cannot or does not understand anything.

"Got his riding breeches on" was a term used in the old days when people rode horseback to describe a person who was dressed and ready to mount his horse and be on his way.

Most old sayings refer to conditions or things back in the old days that everyone understood. Many are not now understood because they are not within the experience or knowledge of younger people. For instance, "Thin as a buggy whip" or "skinny as a rail" to indicate a person who is very slender.

The only saying "weak as a calf" is understood when it is known that a new born calf is so weak it can hardly stand up.

"He must have had tacks for breakfast" is of a smart aleck or show-off.

Where did the expression "cold as a wedge" come from? On every farm back in the old days there was an iron wedge or two for use in splitting wood, rails or posts. These wedges made of iron were always cold to the touch.

"Knee high to a duck" was said of a person extremely low in stature. A "gully washer" was a great downpour of rain that washed the soil away and created gulleys.

There are many more interesting old sayings in the Mississippi Folklore Register.
